people who are new to treatment have a better chance of being cured than those with little or no response to prior treatment.

setting training goals and edging closer and closer to their attainment alongside someone else is very motivating.

if you take it only once a day, take it at bedtime to reduce daytime sleepiness.